Brent Harrison

Brent was born with a passion for the produce business. As a third generation Harrison he began his career in 1982 working in all areas of the family business, gaining knowledge and experience. Brent graduated from University of Arizona where he studied international marketing and Spanish. In 1994 he married Susan Edens, the 1994 national "watermelon queen". He has two children, James and Eden. He also follows in his grandfather's footsteps by having a love of flying.

With his vast experience, Brent is now president of the Al Harrison Company. He is also very involved in the produce industry and serves on these boards:

The Fresh Produce Association of the Americas – Board Member

2006 - 2007 President of National Watermelon Promotion Board

2008-2009 Chairman of National Watermelon Promotion Board

2008- 2010 Officer of the National Watermelon Association.

Current Vice President of Western Watermelon Association

Shelley Harrison-Valdivia

Shelley Harrison-Valdivia has grown up around the produce industry and always knew she would become part of the family business.

In 1985 Shelley began by just answering the phones, and then got her real hands on experience by working in the warehouse and shipping department. Shelley now is proud to be Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer of Al Harrison. She is still very involved in sales and is always ready to secure the freshest produce available for her clients.

George Hardwick

George Hardwick began his career in produce in 1981 as an inspector for the US Army. This job took George all over the world. When he became a produce buyer for the Army he worked in the Terminal Market in Tel Aviv and in Cairo. After retiring from the Army in 1992, George went to work for Watson Foodservice, now SYSCO. With George's experience and industry certifications, he became an asset as Sales Manager for Al Harrison in 2000. He has been an important part of the selling team every since.
